Czech War Film Coming

Sunday morning the service at University Church will consist of a two hour film entitled "Shop on Main Street." It will begin the series of Lenten services for the Church.

One of the most acclaimed films of recent years is this tragicomedy of two people in Czechoslovakia during the early days of World War II. One is a simple, good-natured carpenter who has been appointed "aryan controller" of a supposedly profitable Jewish drygoods shop. The other is the elderly widowed proprietor of the shop, a headstrong but engaging old woman, oblivious of the war, who cannot understand the position of the new arrival and assumes he has been sent as an assistant.

The carpenter's dreams of doing nothing wealth are shattered when he discovers the shop and the woman are impoverished and are being supported by charity from other Jewish merchants. But a deep affection develops between the two with the carpenter enjoying his new position and working on repairs around the shop. Then tragedy strikes as the Nazis give orders for the deportation of all Jews. The carpenter risks his own life by trying to hide the old woman, then panics under the excruciating conflicts of the circumstances. The ending is a devastating touch of irony.

The service will begin at the usual hour of 11:00. You are reminded that the film will last two hours.

Scene from "Shop on Main Street," two hour film to be shown Sunday.

It's Debatable

The Student Advisory Council to the President is now conducting an investigation of the university's decision to cancel the forensics program, reports Al Kiest, chairman of the group. When the investigation is completed a report will be made to Dr. Thompson and Central Board.

Anyone wishing to make a statement to the Council is requested to contact Al Kiest (Trail office, Ext. 763) or Tom Iverson (ASB office, Ext. 250) before Wednesday, Feb. 26.

Peace Corps To Re-Recruit

Tuesday, February 25, two Peace Corps recruiters will spend the day on the UPS campus interviewing persons interested in the Peace Corps program, answering questions, and giving the Peace Corps language placement test.

The two recruiters are Paul Watts, a former volunteer who served in Liberia, West Africa, and Marilyn Stenger, a former volunteer in Thailand.

Watt returned from Liberia in May of 1968 and Miss Stenger arrived back in the U.S. last September.

All students interested in the Peace Corps should stop by to talk with the recruiters and pick up some of the Peace Corps literature.

Miss Stenger and Mr. Watt will be in the foyer of the SUB from 8-5.

'Triple Exposure' Combines Music, Art, and Drama

A new joint venture of the arts will be coming soon to enliven the cultural exposure areas at the University of Puget Sound. Aptly named "Triple Exposure," the new program will feature offerings in the fine arts of music, drama, and the visual arts every Thursday between 12:15 and 12:45 in the Chapel Basement. The first exposure will be held February 27.

Each offering will be centered around a theme expressible in each of the three media. It was planned with the idea in mind that the exposure of the three arts in a related manner will add new and extra dimension to each of them.

The first program will feature Chagall Prints (now on exhibit), along with a short reading from his works about the art, and the virtuoso accordion playing of Diane Schmidt. The Drama portion of the program will include some readings from E. E. Cummings . . . the general theme is "Chagall and the Unexpected."

The meetings are to be informal; students are asked to bring their lunches and to enjoy free coffee. Mrs. True Sackrison, Music Department, Dr. Bruce Rodgers, head of UPS School of Music, and a committee of students and faculty are the nucleus group behind this program. Any student interested in becoming the publicity manager for "Triple Exposure" should contact Mrs. Sackrison at Ext. 254, Room 207 of the Music Building.

Lou Smith, George Neely and Al Roberts listened intently as Mrs. Fannie Lou Hamer, known for her work with the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party, NAACP, and SNCC, spoke Wednesday in Social Sciences 111. She will appear Friday, 8 p.m. in MC 106.

Butterflies, Girls are Collector's Items

by RON POWERS

"The Collector," like last week's campus movie, "The Pawnbroker," is another of the outstanding films from 1965. Based on a 1963 novel by John Fowles, "The Collector" is the story of a British bank clerk, Freddie Clegg, who in his leisure time collects butterflies. When Freddie (Terrence Stamp) wins $200,000 in a football pool, he buys a remote English country house so he can devote all his time to collecting.

However, he decided to make a novel addition to his collection.

Samantha Eggar plays Miranda, the collected addition. Through the artful direction of William Wyler, the fine acting of Miss Eggar and Mr. Stamp, and the believable plot, "The Collector" is, according to Arthur Knight, "the modern equivalent of Mrs. Shelley's Frankenstein Monster."

Terrence Stamp, who rose to stardom in the 1962 movie "Billy

Graduate Record Exam Information

Dear Graduating Senior:

This is to inform you of the times and places of the GRADUATE RECORD EXAMINATIONS. The G.R.E. are required of all seniors who are finishing degree requirements this semester and expecting to receive the degree at the June Convocation.

The examinations will be held as follows:

Tuesday, March 11, 1:00-5:30 — Area Test

Wednesday, March 12, 9:00-12:30 — Advanced Test

Students whose first letter of last name is A-H, inclusive, go to MC 06; letters I-Z, inclusive, go to Jones Aud.

Thursday, March 13, 9:00-12:00 — Aptitude Test — Everyone in Jones Aud. (For students going on to graduate school.)

There is a fee of $5.50 for the Area and Advanced Tests and an additional fee of $2.00 for the Aptitude Test, if taken at the same time. The fee should be paid at the cashier's window after the examinations have been taken.

Bring two sharpened No. 2 lead pencils with you to the examinations. Pens and harder lead pencils cannot be used.

E. D. Gibbs, Assistant Dean of the University

Put these dates on your calendar NOW so you won't forget them.

THE TRAIL SOUNDING BOARD

Issue: Why Students are Rebelling

American college students, for so long considered passive in comparison to their European and Latin American counterparts, have since thoroughly rejected the passive role.

At the start of American college disruptions, the cause was centered around a sincere protest against the war in Vietnam and the discriminatory selective service system. Some students fought militantly, some went to jail, some burned draft cards, some escaped the whole scene through a fantastic trip inside a hypodermic needle.

Now, as any piece of current journalism can portray, the cause of students has shifted dramatically toward social change and civil rights.

Mendelbaum, executive director of the Washington Chapter of the ACLU (American Civil Liberties Union, and not the American Communist Liberals Union), explained in an open forum Friday that the black rebellion had taken over the Vietnam protests in terms of the numbers of cases brought before the ACLU.

Most of the student radicals today got their first taste of activism through civil rights. To them, what the blacks are demanding is not much different from what all other groups in a technocratic, increasingly impersonal society should be demanding — individual rights. Students especially should be aware of their rights; the controversial article, "The Student as Nigger," can attest to that.

In addition, the serious failings of our society, such as deterioration of our natural environment, the urban crisis, the loss of individualism in a mechanized world, and the population boom are reflected through student activism. In general, the students at N. Y. City College, Duke, Wisconsin, Brandeis, Berkeley, U of W (and even UPS?) are rebelling against a profound notion that the American dream has become something of a nightmare.

Dr. Frederick P. Thieme, vice-president of the University of Washington, said in a recent issue of Seattle magazine, "Today all the real problems we face are not in the hard sciences or technology, but in the social sciences. We can solve all kinds of problems — how to build strong bridges and economics, how to create successful farming methods for underdeveloped countries, and so on. The reason they're not solved yet is that we've not chosen to solve them; the students are asking why." —b.c.

And things do get twisted on the grapevine . . .

Parents Requested to Help

Ed note: Below is printed a letter sent this week to all parents of students at UPS from the student body government.

February 11, 1969

Dear Parent:

As you may well know, the private colleges and universities in the State of Washington are facing serious financial difficulty. The University of Puget Sound is no exception to this disturbing and critical fact. On behalf of the Associated Students of the University of Puget Sound, I am calling on you to lend assistance in assuring that your son's or daughter's education received at the University of Puget Sound is the best available in today's educational system.

The task we are asking you to perform is quite simple. We would like you to write or call your state representative expressing your support of State Scholarship Legislation now pending before the Washington State Legislature. The purpose of this legislation is to provide state grants or loans to qualifying high school graduates wishing to continue their education at institutions of higher learning, private or public, in the State of Washington.

I am sure you will agree that the need for retaining the services of the youth of our state is paramount. We, as students, feel this legislation is directed to that purpose.

Your assistance in this matter is extremely important, not only for the sake of the education of your son or daughter, but also to make certain the youths of our state will be given an opportunity to continue their education at institutions of their choice.

Thank you for whatever you might do to assist the University of Puget Sound in this matter.

Sincerely yours,

W. DEAN HENRY
President, ASUPS

Editor's Note: The TRAIL regrets and apologizes for the editorial alterations made when the following letter was printed last week. The letter AS ORIGINALLY SUBMITTED read:

To the editor:

Anyone who has been here two years or more cannot help but notice the contrast in the quality of popular entertainment this year as opposed to just a couple of years ago. Not surprisingly, there is a reason for this — creative and inventive student leadership. The directors of Artists and Lectures and the popular entertainment subdivision, Tom Iverson and Warren Smith, have launched a program of imaginatively exploiting the Fieldhouse and the limited financial resources of the UPS student body.

The result has been top-quality acts being brought to campus at the peak of their popularity (compare with PLU entertainment in this respect). Big things can happen at UPS when talented students get their noses out of beer and books and become more than potential leaders.

The challenge is now put to Public Affairs Forum, academic lectures, campus films and the various student organizations who recruit groups, individuals and films to bring topical, stimulating, and relevant groups, etc., to campus. Don't just spend the money, turn somebody on, shake somebody up!

Casting The First Stone

Editor's note: Below is printed a letter in blank (!) verse which was received this week. In light of the recent non-trivial issues being covered by the Trail staff, the author is requested to follow up his letter with a list of detailed, constructive suggestions for improvement of this newspaper. To the Editor:

THE TRAIL

(Lines in the epic doggerel traditions, with apologies to John Dryden and Alexander Pope.)

What fruitless harvest inept labor brings;

What monuments fashion'd from trifling things:

As the Trail did try to meaning espouse,

So th' mountain labored to bring forth the mouse.

But why, one questions, did enterprize fail,

And bear the miscreant, miscarriage Trail?

'Tis hard, it's answered, to delve into sense

With care that the big-wigs take no offense;

The product, as even the dullest can see,

Is tepid as ere a tabloid could be.

The trivial there is solemnly viewed,

And passes at wit ar stale platitude.

The jabs that pass for courageous display

Are aimed at the foe safe distance away;

Yet, quiet prevails when outrage is near,

No protest is heard, the reason is Fear.

Though to freedom, the Trail claims that it clings,

We know who is really pulling the strings.

Yours,

Jim Lyles

Saturday Seminar Series at Satellite Campus

The University of Puget Sound offered a "Saturday Seminar" on the "Issues of Freedom" and the "Issues at Hand," Feb. 14-15, at the commencement Bay Campus.

"Classical Statements, Documents and Cases," was the theme of the first seminar and bibliographical material included "Issues of Freedom," by H. J. Muller; "Concerning Dissent and Civil Disobedience," by Abraham Fortas, and documents, "The Bill of Rights," "The Bill of Human Right," "The Communist Manifesto—1848" and "A Human Manifesto."

Dialogue format of the program were discussions and a morning panel on which UPS students appeared. Participating were professors Dr. Robert Albertson, head of UPS humanities; William Harbold, U.W. political science professor; Dr. Richard L. Settle, Dr. Phillip Hager, Dr. LeRoy Annis, and Dr. Tim Hanson.

UPS students who participated were Karen

Amundsen, Ginny Burdick, Steve Boyd, Jim Dav-enport, Ann Fowler, Jan Frey, Cecilia Gilbert, Robert Maddox, Ron Powers, Phil Schneider, Vern Van Houten, John Voigt, Guzvar Yalderan, Boo Kaufman, Bob Nelson, Linda Klein, Alan Goodin, Chuck Church-ward, and Brian Honore.

Explaining the university's focus on the seminars, Dr. Robert Bock, vice president and academic dean of the university states, "The role of the university in the problems of its city is not to be the agent of change nor to add one more adversary to the already crowded field, but it is to serve as a catalyst, a meeting ground for the reasonable discussion of possible solutions . . ."

The next seminar will be March 14-15. Interested persons in this program may contact Saturday Seminars registration, University of Puget Sound, for information.

Perspectives in Black and White

By Linda Howell

We have sung, we have cried, we have prayed, now we are willing to die. For one hundred and three years Negroes have passively waited for the White majority to include the Black minority in the human race.

One hundred and three years is too long to wait. The time for action and change is now, not tomorrow. There is a new generation rising, which has matured from Negroes to Blacks. As a Black woman at UPS this is my opinion of how we stand and where we are going.

Today the White (in color only) majority is petrified by slogans such as "Black Power" and "Black is Beautiful." Why? Because the White majority is afraid that after a hundred and three years of "slavery," the Black man has learned from them hate, hypocrisy, and prejudice. We have had experts as teachers, and we have learned well how to hate, the acts of prejudice, and the art of hypocrisy. The price of education was dear, and the scars are numerous and deep. It cost us our pride, self respect, name, and integrity. This education has left Blacks embittered and resentful, and the White society wonders why. How ironic.

Show me one White person with substantial reason to hate: The only chains you have are on your mind; your limitations your inability to see; your hangups, your reasoning. Forsome unknown reason the White society reasons as equals humility and stupidity, tolerance and passiveness, action and riots. If the teacher is a fool, what would you expect the pupil to learn?

"But why do you hate us?" This common cry is sickening. If you belonged to a race without a country; if you had to revert back to an African culture which never existed on American soil, if you had to try to explain to your child why the good guys always wear white hats; then you would know why we hate you. I was fortunate not to have experienced many of the injustices imposed on Blacks. But I do not have to fall into a hole to know that one exists.

You're stunned to find that we have the capacity to hate. Why? According to your own stereotypes, we are driven by sex. Sex is an emotion. If you, the White society, allowed us the emotion of love, why did you deprive us the emotion of hate? You let us love. Did it not occur to you, you were also teaching us how to hate.

Here I would like to point out that we don't hate you all, just most of you. Especially the understanding White Liberal whose "best" friend is a "Negro."

Yes, "Bwana," we are indeed "grateful" to you for splitting our families, giving us shacks as homes, and enslaving us to welfare, but as the saying goes, "all good things must come to an end."

We have talked, we have marched, we have burned, must we bomb a church too? Why? Only to get your attention. When you are willing to recognize there is a problem, we will stop burning and help you solve the problem you created.

Yes, times have changed. Since singing hymns, moaning, and prayer have gotten us nothing but the back seat of the bus, we will try something new. And with or without the help of the "understanding" White community, we shall overcome.

Hamer To Speak . . .

The National Shakespeare Company is coming to UPS. The UPS Artist and Lecture Cultural Committee is sponsoring the presentation of 'The Taming of The Shrew', February 25, at 8 p.m. in Jones Auditorium. Bob Holman and Bob Haines have coordinated this presentation.

This presentation will be directed by Philip Meister and will cast Victor Raider-Wexler as Petruchio, suitor to Katherine, and Katherine McGrath as Katherine. The scenery will be done by William Pitkin and costumes designed and executed by Terry Leong.

This performance is open to the UPS student body and to the public.

(UPSNB)—Fanny Lou Hamer, now involved in an effort to raise money for the underprivileged in her home state, Mississippi, will be guest speaker at 8 p.m. Friday, Feb. 21, in Jones Hall Auditorium at the University of Puget Sound.

The speaker, described as an "untutored philosopher," is active in the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) and the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC).

World Campus Afloat is a college that does more than broaden horizons. It sails to them and beyond.

Once again, beginning in October of 1969, the World Campus Afloat program of Chapman College and Associated Colleges and Universities will take qualified students, faculty and staff into the world laboratory.

In-port programs relevant to fully-accredited coursework taught aboard ship add the dimension of personal experience to formal learning.

Classes are held six days a week at sea aboard the s.s. Ryndam which has been equipped with classrooms, laboratories, library, student union, dining room and dormitories.

Chapman College now is accepting applications for the Fall and Spring semesters of the 1969-70 academic year. Fall semesters depart New York for ports in Western Europe and the Mediterranean, Africa and South America, ending in Los Angeles. Spring semesters circle the world from Los Angeles through the Orient, India and South Africa to New York.

Aims Questioned

Literary Arts Festival's Opening Night

By RON POWERS

The first event in the "Third Annual Spring Literary Arts Festival" was presented last Friday evening by Dr. Tim Hansen. The subject of his lecture was "Symbolism in William Butler Yeats." According to the Festival's agenda, "The intent of these programs is to provide public entertainment, (and) to promote greater appreciation of literature of the world on this campus . . ." There is some question as to how effective Dr. Hansen was in providing and promoting these goals.

Obviously, the first lecturer in the season occupies an unenviable position, and to compound the disadvantage, this is Dr. Hansen's first year at UPS, so his familiarity with last year's program is second hand.

Nevertheless, Dr. Hansen's material was too academic and required more than the superficial knowledge of Yeats which the majority of people there seemed to possess. By misjudging his audience to begin with, Dr. Hansen lost a sizeable portion of those present during his lecture. In a way, however, his approach was refreshing because he did not take a condescending view of the audience's intelligence, something many teachers do all too frequently.

But in the presentation of the material, where he could have partially redeemed himself, he refrained from any emotion, he read rapidly, and he seldom looked up from his notes. The highlight of his lecture was his humor, especially two accounts from former teaching experiences noted at the end of his lecture. Besides his humor, another good quality of his lecture was its brevity; Dr. Hansen spoke for thirty-five minutes whereas some professors feel it a duty to consume at least an hour.

Dr. Hansen's lecture raises some interesting points about the aims of the Literary Arts Festival. First, and probably most important, to whom are these lectures addressed? If the programs are to provide "public entertainment" solely, the first lecture failed to communicate with the majority of those present and therefore did not entertain. On the other hand, to what lengths does a professor have to go to be an "entertainer" for the people? Does he have to prostitute work that is, by its very nature—Yeats' poetry, for example—esoteric?

Perhaps we might turn to Yeats himself for an answer to these questions, for he once said: "Think like a wise man, but communicate in the language of the people."

Portland State Challenges Loggers Tomorrow Nite

Tomorrow night the Loggers meet Portland State University in the Fieldhouse. Game time is 8:00 p.m. They defeated Portland earlier 99-82.

University of Puget Sound hoopsters won a pair of games over in the Islands last week but also suffered their second defeat of the season. Hawaii pulled a major upset in the first game 85-84 in overtime. Leading Rainbow scorer Paul Hoffman hit two free throws with one second remaining. Dave Lindstrom of the Loggers made all 14 of his free throws before taking one last gasp at the final buzzer in the regulation game but it wouldn't drop.

Hawaii led 83-80 in the final 34 seconds of the overtime but always hustling John Smith stole the ball and quickly was fouled. He only made one of his attempts. Charles Lowry received a pass from Ed Huston for the tying basket and received the bonus shot. The score stood at 84-83. The rest is history.

Coach Don Zech was anxious after the victory to play Hawaii again as the Loggers got their chance Saturday night. Playing their usually well paced game, the Loggers broke it wide open in the middle of the second half, leading as much as 20 points before the reserves took over. John Smith led all the Logger players with 20 points. Game honors went to Lew Lillie, scoring 24 points.

Varsity tennis meeting will be in the Fieldhouse at 2:30 p.m. on Monday.

Swimmers, Wrestlers Near Season Close

UPS mermen split two dual meets last weekend here on campus overpowering Eastern Washington 73-39 and losing to Oregon State 68-45. Oregon State won eleven of thirteen events, setting records in all eleven. The only record UPS set was the 400 free-style relay.

Tomorrow the mermen will attempt their ninth victory when Simon Fraser University invades Wallace pool at 2:00 p.m.

Yesterday was the last scheduled match for the matmen as they traveled to Monmouth, Oregon meet Oregon College of Education. Next for the Loggers are the district meets to be held early next month.

Track turnouts begin at 3:00 p.m. on Monday; contact Coach Peyton.

'The Collector' Reviewed for Campus Film Fans

Budd" and has been seen more recently in "Blue," wants nothing sexually from Miranda, only her love. On one occasion in the movie, Miranda strips and offers herself to him, but he rejects her. One of the best scenes is a discussion between Freddie and Miranda about J. D. Salinger's CATCHER IN THE RYE, which only further reveals the idiosyncracies in Freddie's character.

Although Terrence Stamp and Samantha Eggar both won the best actor and best actress awards at the Cannes Film Festival, most of the accolades for acting have gone to Miss Eggar. To get the best acting results possible, William Wyler subjected her to much mental torment during the shooting of the film, and apparently it worked. "It was the first experience of my life," she said when the movie was completed.

DID YOU KNOW

The term "boycott" comes from the name of Captain Charles Boycott, a ruthless land agent in County Mayo, Ireland, who was the victim of the first boycott.

* * *

The first Roman Catholic priest to serve in Congress was Gabriel Richard, who served as a delegate from Michigan Territory in the 18th Congress, from March 4, 1823, to March 3, 1825.

The first Congresswoman elected to the House of Representatives was Jeanette Rankin. She was elected as a Republican by Montana and served from 1917 to 1919, and again from 1941 to 1943.

Critical acclaim for the film has been mixed. LIFE called it a "Popcorn Rattling Suspense" and TIME said it was "A shocker sure to quicken the pulse of any anxious working girl who has to walk home unescorted." On the other hand, Arthur Knight in SATURDAY REVIEW says: "Like Freddie's butterflies, the film is well mounted but lifeless."

See it this Friday in Mc006 and decide for yourself, and watch for further reviews in the following weeks.
